THE APOSTLE OF ERIN

ANNIVERSARY OF HIS DEATH TO BE CELEBRATED ON TUESDAY NEXT.

of Marshal Reddy's Order for the mation of Line and Parade-Toasts, Patrick, the Apostle of Erin, died. Since that time through weal and woe the people of Ireland and their descendants in whatever clime have never failed to celebrate this feast-day.

It is a much-disputed question whether Patrick was born in France or Scotland, but in his labors and memory he is alto gether an Irishman. His mission among gether an Irishman. His mission among the Irish people was not of great length—thirty-three years—yet in that time he converted the entire people, and at his death the Druid faith had no followers.

The Sons of St. Patrick in Richmond will celebrate the coming 17th much more elaborately than heretofore. A public parade in the morning and a banquet at night will form the chief features of the celebration.

THE MARSHAL'S PROCLAMATION.

Touching the parade the chief marshal,
Mr. W. F. Reddy, has issued the following:
"All citizens of Irish birth or descent
and all sympathizers with the Irish cause are earnestly invited to take part in the parade on Tuesday next, the 17th instant.
"Those living in the West End will assemble at the Sacred Heart church at 8 o'clock
A. M. Those living in St. Patrick's parish will assemble at the school-house, Twentysixth and Grace streets, at 8 o'clock A. M., from which places they will march to the Cathedral Hail and take up the positions hereafter assigned them. Those in the Cathedral parish must be in position at 8:30 o'clock A. M., as the line will move promptly at 9 o'clock.

The latter is an enterprise just decided upon and the contracts will soon be let. It is to be put up by the Richmond Brewing Company, composed of Mr. George C. Guvernator, of this city, and a number of wealthy Philadelphians. The establishment is to be located on the Euker property, atjthe head of Clay street, the sale of which was closed yesterday by Messrs. J. Thompson, Brown & Co., real estate agents. The sale embraces the historic Buchanan Spring property, together with the row of ten stock-brick dwellings, the old brewery, ice-honse, garden, and the entire square bounded by Clay, Marshall, Harrison, and Norton streets. weather opens well.

The purchasers propose to pull down the old brewery and other buildings and erect a modern five-story brewery fitted with all the latest and best improvements.

Flans are now being prepared and will be completed in a few days, when estimates will be taken. Mr. Hill is a wide-awake and progressive man and added very greatly to the success of the late Exposition by introducing with Mr. Guvernator many novelties, such as the Galatea, Fall of Pompei, etc.

PRACTICAL AND WEALTHY. It is said the company is not only com-posed of wealthy people but practical as well, having several managers of large and successful breweries, as well as several ex-pert brewers of national reputation, who will locate here with their families. They intend to lose no time in their improve-ments, and with good weather and no un-foreseen delay expect to have their beer on the market in July. It is said that the consumption of beer in this city alone is from 40,000 to 50,000 barrels per annum, not iron 40,000 to 50,000 parters per annua, including a large quantity which is shipped and bottled.

Messrs. Brown & Co. say that they have received more inquiries from solid enterprises of this sort in the past thirty days than in any like period in their experience.

They are in correspondence with western than in any like period in their experience. They are in correspondence with western gentlemen who are negotiating the purchase of a $200,000 mineral tract, and also with some B-ston capitalists who endeavored to secure last week an option on a $100,000 piece of propertion are negotiating the purchase. They are also having the bricks cleaned at the old James-River Brewery, which was recently destroyed by fire, the owner of the same having authorized them to construct a large building or factory for the manufacture of wagons or agricultural implements, and they are now in correspondence with a large corporation looking to ence with a large corporation looking to-wards the opening of such an enterprise on the site of the old brewery.

Easter Buyers.

TIMELY THINGS TEMPTING PRICES.

Who wouldn't buy now? The dressmaker's delay might suggest this couplet. There are times and there are places

Which the souls of women try, When to express their feelings For a language strong they sigh. But especially they find Their vocabulary weak,

When tyrannical dressmakers Put them off another week!

NEW FABRICS FOR EASTER

50 CENTS.

Behold the sign! Half a dollar doing dollar duty on Dress Fabrics. Half a dollar in silver securing one dollar in value. We want to do more than our share of Easter selling, and we're going to do it by cutting prices to a tempting

What have we got? A spring supply of the choicest novel-ties that have leaped from the looms of two continents. Others larger-none so select. Quality with us comes firstprice we put on the prettiest things! Here are new Tweeds, rough-looking enough to satisfy the "street costume" craze; Tweeds in plaids, irregular plaids at that : Tweeds in tan and gray blendings; Tweeds in tartan plaids; Tweeds in ever-popular, more-charming-than-Broadcloths, did you say? Look here! An English present-the oveliest line of Broadcloths ever shown in Richmond, Not in town long enough to take out their "first papers." The mill-mark is hardly dry on them-but the shades and colors are beautifully fast. Modes, tans, and grays catch the eye first-they're 54 inches wide, and a worse, but 85c, takes the best. Let us put this impertant truth in a box.

ENGLISH BROADCLOTHS ONLY 85C.

Who said Silk-Finished Henriettas? Step right this way and see what you shall see in the realm of festive fashion Here's a Black Sitk-Finished Henrietta 46 inches wide, standard measure, with a body like a Roman gladiator, a finish as lustrous as the plumage of Poe's Raven that sat upon the bust of Pallas; an exquisite textile that seems to belong us to put this in a box.

Look at those Linens! Dean Swift's pen couldn't do tainly—and best in the world that. The the flax, and the puts it in a bog-"rot. and the hanger on who breaks it for the "clove, and the thrifty housewife who draws it through the "tongs," and the pretty colleen who sits at the spinning wheel and feeds it to the fineness of silk from the distaff, and the nimble weaver who pelts it into practical shape with puzzling dexterity, all seem to join hands and bow for applause. And no one who sees our spring exhibit of 6 boxes of TURKEY-RED INITIALS, Linens will fail to clap hands. And the Well, what's the matter with Special attractions in DRESS GOODS.
